ERMATOR T-LINE

Three phase HEPA dust extractors: T-Line

For the largest grinding operations and major construction/restoration jobsites, you need the rugged power, capacity and performance of Pullman Ermator's T-Line Dust Extractors. These three-phase HEPA dust collectors are well known for their ability to pick-up vast amounts of dust and debris without interruption. They are capable of large volume recovery of concrete dust during floor surface preparation and for safe collection, disposal and handling of other harmful building materials including asbestos and lead. Four versatile models to choose from. Each unit can also perform as a central dust control vacuums for use in factories, processing plants and mills. Equipped with Jet Pulse filter cleaning system for maximizing airflow and productivity. Dual HEPA filters and Longopac dustless containment & disposal system will ensure that the workplace is safe for your workers and other building occupants.
